CREDIT/CONTACT HOURS: 6 hours/week.

COURSE OBJECTIVES: The aims of this course are to provide students with the skills and tools necessary to think critically about a range of literary texts and to communicate ideas in a clear, coherent, and persuasive manner. Students will have the chance, individually and in groups, to consider, analyze, and discuss different forms of writing; in so doing, students will have opportunities to improve oral and written communication skills.

LEARNING OUTCOMES: As a result of taking this course, students will gain the ability to:

- Identify and to employ a range of sentence structures
- Improve elements of mechanics, usage, and grammar
- Improve general and academic vocabulary
- Develop appropriate strategies for reading and responding to difficult materials
- Practice and improve reading comprehension and critical thinking skills
- Plan an essay, moving from outlining, to writing a first draft, to revising and editing

- Develop an understanding of essay components such as thesis statements and topic sentences
- Produce coherent, unified, and well-structured essays
- Research effectively
- Analyze aspects of plot, setting, characterization, tone, and theme in short stories, novels, drama, and poetry
- Discuss a writer's point of view and how it relates to a work's larger themes
- Identify and analyze important details in a given text
- Identify devices of figurative language such as metaphor, irony, allusion

COURSE SCHEDULE/TENTATIVE TIMELINE:

Throughout the course, students will engage in a variety of short prose fiction and non-fiction texts well as poetry. In addition to these forms of texts, the course will be comprised of four main units of study.

Weeks 1-5: Unit 1-Non-Fiction Prose - Students will study Tara Westover's memoir Educated and explore a sampling of non-fictional texts. Unit 2-Fiction Prose- Students will explore a sampling of fictional texts.

Weeks 6: Unit 3-The Research Essay. Students will be introduced to the research process and research essay early on in the semester in preparation for this major assignment.

Weeks 7-8: Unit 4- Drama- Students will study William Shakespeare's Othello and explore a sampling of Shakespearean drama, poetry, as well as contemporary plays.

STUDENT RESPONSIBILITIES:

1. Students should attend all Zoom lectures and notify instructor of any absence(s). If students cannot attend a Zoom lecture, then they must notify the instructor in advance with the reason(s) for their absence.
2. Good attendance means more than simply being present physically during remote class time. It means coming to class prepared, having read the assigned material(s) for the day, and showing respect to all the other members of the class by being attentive. To maximize student engagement and learning, I highly encourage students to turn on their web cameras on for all Zoom classes. If there are background distractions and noise in the students' learning space, I encourage them to find an optimal space for learning and to mute their microphones on Zoom to not distract and disturb others during the lecture.
3. Students must check their GPRC email and MyClass regularly. This is essential to keep up with the course readings, assignments and tests. I also encourage students to add their GPRC email and MyClass to their personal phone/device.

4. Students must actively communicate with their instructor. If you have questions or concerns throughout the course, please send me an email or call me on the office phone number. If you need further assistance with assignments, please do not hesitate to book a virtual office appointment and take advantage of one-on-one instruction and support.
5. Submit all formal assignments via D2L My-Class Assignment Drop Boxes. If you cannot upload an assignment to D2L, then please email your work to LBrazier@gprc.ab.ca. Send assignments as PDFs. If you choose to use Google Docs or GoogleSlides when sharing, please make sure that your document allows me the ability to edit/comment on the document directly.
6. All assignments are to be submitted by the assigned date. Late assignments will be penalized 10% for each day late with weekends counting as one day. After three days, I will no longer accept the assignment for marking. I will grant extensions for assignments in extenuating circumstances only. Last-minute requests for extensions will not be granted unless medical/or other professional documentation can be provided. Please note that I will not accept any outstanding assignments after I have handed back marked assignments to the class. (Turnaround time for marked assignments is usually about one week).
7. Students should avoid making travel plans for the 8-week duration of this course. All tests MUST be written at the scheduled times unless PRIOR arrangements have been made with the instructor. A missed test (exam) will result in a score of ZERO on that test (exam). Only in very specific cases may student be given an opportunity to make up a missed exam (student may be presented with a different version of the exam). Doctor, lawyer or police documentation may be required.
