College Calendar Course Description:

This course examines the workings of the four branches of government at the national level, as well as Canadian federalism and the Constitution. The course also explores efforts to change institutional arrangements to make them more democratic and more responsive to Western Canadians, people in Quebec and aboriginal peoples.

Course Objectives:

At the end of this course you should be able to understand better how the Canadian political system works (and fails to work), and how it might be improved. You should also have greater insights into some significant political issues.

This course and PO2210 (The Canadian Political Environment) provide a full year introduction to the study of Canadian Politics. The two courses together provide preparation for further studies in Canadian politics at the postsecondary level and serve as a prerequisite. (Note that credit for both PO2210 and 2220 is needed to receive credit for the core Canadian Politics course at the U of A, POLS 220.)

Course requirements:

Attendance and participation	10%
Midterm exam	25%
.....	10%
Essay	25%
Final exam	30%

Required texts:

1. Rand Dyck, Canadian Politics: Critical Approaches, 5th edition. Scarborough, Ontario: Nelson, 2008.
2. Course Package for Political Studies 2220/320.
3. Website and database material.

PLEASE NOTE: You are expected to write the final exam when scheduled by the Registrar's Office - with possible exceptions only in the case of compelling and urgent circumstances beyond your control. Take this into account when making any plans.

Also note that you are expected to reference sources fully and properly for your term paper. An instructor's handout will provide assistance. See College Calendar, pp. 48-50, for information on the range of penalties for cheating and plagiarism.

Students who miss an excessive number of classes may be denied the opportunity to write the final exam, as stated in the Calendar on p. 44.

For information on key dates and other important matters, see the Calendar as well.
